LONDON, Nov. 6 — Another Anglo-American convoy bringing troops and millions of dollars worth of supplies has arrived in England, the London Evening Standard reported today. The voyage was without interference from submarines, the paper declared. The convoyed ships included well known liners.

By Pierre J. Huns
ALGIERS, Nov. 6 — The American wing of the Fifth Army in Italy smashed through the last German defenses on the western sector of the battlefield today and captured the enemy operational base at Venafro.

A victory of equal importance was scored by the British Eighth Army at the eastern extremity of the line when troops under command of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery seized the coastal town of Vasto, Adriatic anchor of the German defenses.

With the entire line of Nazi mountain defenses from the Tyrrhenian sea on the west to the Adriatic in the east rapidly falling to pieces, advance elements of the Fifth Army swept across the Garigliano river to spearhead the rapidly moving march on Rome.

The Germans undertook a wide withdrawal on the Eighth Army front under terrific battering-ram assaults. Gen. Montgomery's troops, in addition to seizing Vasto, took Sessano, Pietrascupa and Duronia.

Germans Alarmed
Alarmed by the rapid American punches northward along the battlefield, the Germans threw the "emergency" 305th infantry division into the line in a desperate but futile attempt to hold Venafro at all costs.

But the storming Yank forces inflicted on them the severest type of mauling and seized Venafro in hot fighting. Then the Yanks fanned out several miles into the hills to the north.

After seizing Venafro the Americans slashed forward against the reinforced Germans until the entrance to the town.

JAPS BOAST AGAIN

LONDON, Nov. 6 — The German radio today quoted an entirely unconfirmed report from Tokyo today claiming that the Japanese air force sank two Allied aircraft carriers and four cruisers south of Bougainville island in the Solomons. There was no substantiation of the enemy claims in any Allied quarter.

Tense Quiet Prevails After Army Uses Tear Gas On Tule Camp Japs

TULE LAKE, Cal., Nov. 6 — A tense quiet prevailed today at the Tule Japanese segregation center following two new demonstrations, one of which was broken up when Army troops used tear gas.

Ignoring Army orders restricting them to their own section of the center, 2,000 of the 16,000 avowed Japanese disloyalists at the vast camp gathered yesterday afternoon and started toward the administration building.

When they failed to heed orders to disperse, the soldiers, armed with machine guns, hurled tear gas at the demonstrators.

Agreement Expected To Speed Return Of 540,000 Workers To Pits

By International News Service
Approval by the War Labor Board of a wage agreement between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Harold L. Ickes, federal mine custodian, was expected to speed up the return of 540,000 striking UMW miners to the pits.

The agreement was approved by the WLB last night by an eleven to one majority, the lone negative vote being cast by Wayne L. Morse, public member of the board.

However, the approval was conditional, one major point being in need of clarification. The agreement gives the miners 37½ cents a day more than previously awarded by the board through the halving of their 30¢ (Continued on Page Two)

"JOE SENT ME" AGAIN FINDING FAVOR IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 — It's become "under the counter" sales now at least insofar as liquor is concerned. Plagued by demanding customers on one hand and insufficient stocks on the other, New York liquor dealers have removed from display most of the whiskies in their stock. Regular customers are supplied from caches kept beneath the counters.

Hence, the famous prohibition phrase "Joe sent me" once again is finding favor in transactions involving the "cup that cheers."

MOSCOW PLAN WORKING

Request May Be Made Of Turkey For Use Of Valuable Bases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — The United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia are understood today to be launching a full-scale diplomatic offensive against Germany as a result of the Moscow pact.

Purpose of the diplomatic offensive is to force the Axis satellite nations of Europe to break away from Germany, as well as to solidify Allied unity on the European continent for the post-war period.

The first move in the diplomatic drive already has been taken with the joint Anglo-American-Soviet appeal to Austria to revolt against Nazi control.

There is reason to believe Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland likewise are going to be told that the harshness or lenity of the treatment to be accorded them in the final peace settlement will depend entirely on the extent to which they help contribute to their own liberation from Nazi domination.

The Moscow conferees also are said to have agreed to try to bring Turkey into closer alignment with the Allied cause. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is now undertaking this task in a special conference in Cairo with the Turkish foreign minister, Numan Menemencioglu.

May Ask Bases

While it is not expected in Washington that Turkey will be asked at this time to enter the war, the possibility is seen that Eden may suggest Turkish bases should be placed at the disposal of Great Britain in somewhat the same manner that Portugal granted the British use of the Azores.

It is thought Eden may also take up with the Turkish foreign minister the question of free passage through the Dardanelles for Soviet Russia after the war.

Official Washington is confident Turkey could be persuaded to enter the war now on the Allied side if such a step was considered desirable. It is pointed out, however, that Turkey possesses a defensive rather than an offensive army. The Turks are lacking in adequate offensive weapons of modern warfare. Furthermore, Turkish cities (Continued on Page Two)

1,100 Yankee Planes Take Part In Record Raid Against Germany

LONDON, Nov. 6 — A force of at least 1,100 bombers and fighters of the United States Eighth Air Force was believed today to have taken part in the mammoth daylight assaults which blasted the German oil center of Gelsenkirchen and railway yards at Muenster.

Some crews which participated in the assault, a continuation of a new cycle of all-out aerial drubbings on the Reich, said the raid was the heaviest ever carried out by United States airmen.

A joint communique by Eighth Air Force headquarters and the air ministry said a force equal to that which hammered the port of Wilhelmshaven Wednesday in the heaviest raid to that date had taken part.

The Flying Fortress and Liberator, escorted by Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters, flew through the heaviest type of anti-aircraft fire protecting the Reich and encountered numerous Nazi fighters.

At least 38 Nazi craft were shot down in combat. The Americans lost 10 heavy bombers, two medium bombers and five fighters.

Bombers accounted for 20 of the Nazi fighters while escort craft downed the other 18.

The Gelsenkirchen raid marked the first time since August 12 that American craft had attacked the synthetic oil plants there. Gelsenkirchen has been hit by Royal Air Force bombers a total of 44 times. Muenster, one of the Reich's most important rail terminals, last was hammered by the Americans October 10.

The Nazis retaliated for the devastating series of Allied blows, including a fearful assault by the RAF on Duesseldorf and a simultaneous raid on Cologne, by returning to the London area during the night.

"Why We Fight"—Nazis Bring "Kultur" To Russia

TYPE of "kultur" brought to Soviet Russia by German invasion forces is pictured poignantly, above, in these photos taken from the documentary film, "The Battle of Russia." Few words are needed to describe the top photo of a Russian infant crying in terror and loneliness over the body of its mother in a village overrun by the Nazis.

The scene pictured below greeted the eyes of Soviet troops re-occupying a village. The villagers had been hanged two-by-two before the invaders retreated. This movie has been chosen by the U. S. Army as the fifth in its indoctrination series of films to show soldiers "why we fight."

Fordham university officials said the earthquake "probably shook up the Japs a good bit."

CHICAGOAN HIT BY AUTO WINS $75,000 DAMAGES

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 — One of the largest judgments ever given in a personal injury case — $75,000 — was on record today in superior court.

The award was returned in the suit brought by Richard G. Kraaz, 39, against Edward G. Henke, president of the American Electric Fusion Corporation.

Kraaz lost one leg and suffered permanent injury to the other when struck by Henke's auto last January, while wiping snow off the rear window of his own car.

The verdict contained a malice count under which Henke can be jailed for six months if he fails to pay the judgment.

NAZIS DECLARE ALLIED PLANES ATTACK VATICAN

LONDON, Nov. 6 — An entirely unsubstantiated claim was made by the German overseas news service today that Allied airplanes had attacked Vatican City and caused considerable damage.

London quarters were quick to point out that no official word of any air activity in the vicinity of Rome had been received and it was recalled that Allied governments had warned the Italians some time ago of the possibility of a German bombing of the Vatican in an effort to place responsibility on the United Nations.

The Nazi version of the supposed attack said four large bombs fell within 100 yards of St. Peter's cathedral.

The Germans also asserted that the Virgule mosaic workshops in the Vatican had been destroyed.

World Peace Organization Proposal Passes Senate 85 to 5

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — The senate in an unprecedented wartime move sent a resolution to the White House today proposing an international organization for the maintenance of postwar peace. Passed last night by a vote of 85 to five—but with all senators recorded so that the actual sentiment was 90 to six—the resolution has only the effect of advising the President of the attitude of the senate in his negotiations with other nations.

The resolution was regarded as having unusual significance, however, because it is the senate which must ratify by a two-thirds vote a treaty of peace ending the war.

The action was taken with senators differing widely in their interpretations. As finally passed the resolution contained both a general declaration for international authority to preserve peace and prevent aggression. It also contained the Moscow four-part proposal for an international organization. (Continued on Page Two)

All Russia Celebrates And Stalin Orders Salvo At Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 6 — The Soviet high command today officially announced Russian recapture of Kiev, third largest city in the Soviet Union and Adolf Hitler's former headquarters in the days when success instead of deadly defeat repaid his aggression.

With the liberation of Kiev and its population of more than half a million, the offensive launched by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin four months ago reached its climax.

Supplementing the high command's communique, the marshal issued a special order of the day which said:

"Kiev was carried by assault at dawn today."

Marshal Stalin ordered 24 salvos fired from 324 guns at the Moscow garrison in honor of the victory.

Wild Rejoicing

The announcement meant for all of Russia a day of wild rejoicing. To signalize the event, the presidium of the supreme Soviet conferred on Marshal Stalin the order of Suvarov, first class, a blazing emblem he will wear upon his left breast of his new military uniform. For the first time since the war began, Stalin only this week donned the garb of his rank as marshal of Russia, a smartly-tailored uniform with gold epaulets braided in shining loops.

Berlin had admitted by radio the evacuation of Kiev, but propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels did not admit the Germans had been hurled out of the great Dnieper river citadel by sheer weight of arms.

What the Russians did by capturing Kiev was to liberate the whole of the Ukraine and to inflict upon the Germans the worst disaster they have suffered since the Nazi Sixth Army under Gen. Friedrich Ludwig Von Paulus was wiped out at Stalingrad.

Mop Up Remnants

While Soviet troops completed mopping up small German remnants on the Nogals steppe, capturing more than 30 towns between the Dnieper river estuary and the Black sea, still other Russian forces scored further advances in the far north and beat off enemy counter-attacks in the Dnieper bend.

Some 5,200 additional Nazi officers and men fell on three fronts, and the steadily-advancing Russian troops took many captives and vast quantities of war materials.

The Kiev besiegers, overcoming "stubborn" resistance of the German garrison, smashed their way through two Nazi defense lines and captured several strongly-fortified inhabited localities. In "routing" large enemy forces, as the Soviet midnight supplementary communique described, the Russians stormed and occupied Svyatoshino, five miles due west of the Ukrainian capital.

AIRMEN POUND JAPS
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 6—Allied airmen under command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur engaged in battles today against Jap warships and troop convoys steaming south from the enemy naval base of Truk to reinforce the bomb-battered base of Rabaul on New Britain Island.

Several convoys have been sighted enroute through southwest Pacific waters, Gen. MacArthur announced, and a forceful attack against one enemy squadron already was carried out by Allied heavy bombers.

The large-scale Jap shipping movements, to bolster threatened Rabaul and possibly to attempt a counter-blow against expanding American offensive operations in the Solomons, presaged widespread air and naval engagements in this theatre.

It appeared possible that Gen. MacArthur who challenged the Japanese fleet to come out and fight at the start of the United States drive against Bougainville in the Solomons had achieved his goal, at least in part.

In the initial action against the Jap surface force, heavy Allied bombers from the South Pacific command of Admiral William F. Halsey attacked a six-ship convoy off Kavieng, New Ireland. The bombers dropped 57 tons of explosives on the convoy, scoring direct hits which left a large cargo ship stationary and listing heavily to port. A second cargo vessel was set afire.

The Japs sent 20 intercepting fighters into battle to protect the ships and four of their aircraft and probably three others were shot down. The Allies lost one bomber.

A second action was carried out against another large southbound convoy sighted by lone reconnaissance plane north of Mussau island. Gen. MacArthur said this force apparently was headed for Rabaul. The reconnaissance plane bombed one of the escorting destroyers.

Night reconnaissance units at the same time attacked three medium sized merchant vessels south of New Hanover.

The heaviest Jap reinforcements proceeding on Rabaul were discovered by reconnaissance planes off New Britain. This formidable squadron consisted of 19 ships, including five heavy cruisers, three light cruisers, five destroyers, two corvettes and four merchant ships.

Gen. MacArthur reported these warships and cargo vessels came from the direction of Truk.

"The enemy apparently is endeavoring to retrieve the situation at Rabaul and is utilizing to the fullest his capacity for rapid replacement," said the communique.

American Marines who landed at Empress Augusta Bay on Bougainville, last Jap stronghold in the Solomons, consolidated their positions and continued mopping up offshore island which had been held by the Japs.

GRAVE DIGGERS END FOUR-DAY CHICAGO STRIKE

CHICAGO, Nov. 6—An agreement between union leaders and cemetery officials today ended a four day strike of grave diggers and other workers in suburban St. Adalbert's cemetery.

William G. Murray of the U. S. Conciliation Service, announced the end of the strike, but did not reveal terms of the agreement pending its approval by the WLB. The workers, members of the cemetery workers union, Local 166 (AFL), had demanded a wage increase from 75 to 95 cents an hour.

About fifty bodies are in the cemetery vault awaiting burial. During the strike no cars were allowed in the burying grounds and mourners were forced to carry casket and flowers to a temporary resting place in the vault.

ben Barkley, of Kentucky, said the actions at the Moscow conference, together with the senate resolution, have great significance.

"These actions come into juxtaposition sufficiently close to constitute a great challenge to the future," he said. "We have done what we have never before done in war—gone on record as expressing faith in ourselves and in the high purpose of humanity."

"Through this declaration of good faith," said Sen. Scott Lucas (D) Ill., "the senate has advised the world that it is ready to assume its responsibility in helping chart a course which will bring a lasting peace to the suffering peoples of a tortured world."

Sen. Tom Connally (D) Texas, chairman of the foreign relations committee and author of the resolution, interpreted it as endorsing an association of nations and the use of all existing bodies for international collaboration and creation of new ones.

"This resolution has in it the teeth of bayonets if necessary to maintain peace," said Connally. "These are extreme remedies to be employed only if peaceful methods of diplomacy fail."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., declared that the resolution "violates our age-old policy" and that "it looks toward power politics and a league of nations."

Wheeler joined with Sens. Johnson (R) Calif., Shipstead (R) Minn., Reynolds (D) N. C., and Langer (R) N. D., in voting against it. Sen. La Follette (P) Wis., who is ill, was recorded in opposition.

The resolution was passed, however, with many senators declaring that they are not bound to ratify any treaty containing a league of nations.

Sen. Carl Hayden (D) Ariz., declared that the President could enter into an association without submitting the matter to ratification, but other senators disagreed. The resolution contains a specific statement that any such organization shall be embodied in a treaty and submitted for ratification.

JAP-AMERICAN WEDDINGS WIN PASTOR'S FAVOR

SANTA MARIA, Cal., Nov. 6—A church minister went on record today as favoring inter-marriage of Americans and Japanese, declaring that it would "be to the benefit of the race."

Dr. A. A. Heist pastor of the Santa Maria Methodist Episcopal church, testifying before a state assembly committee on the Japanese problem in California, declared:

"Ultimately we will come to it, and I believe such intermarriage would be of benefit to the race."

The pastor attacked removal of Japanese from the Pacific coast as having been brought about by "selfish economic interests" rather than through military necessity.

Dr. Heist told the committee that he "decidedly approves the return of Japanese" to the west coast after the war because their return "is an economic necessity."

ACCEPTED BY NAVY

Two Kingston and Adelphi district youths have been accepted during the last few days for service in the Navy. They are Clifford Ream, Adelphi, and Gilmer Young, Kingston.

18 COUNTY MEN ACCEPTED FOR DUTY IN ARMY

Eighteen Circleville and Pickaway county men who went to Columbus Thursday for final physical examination have been inducted into the Army and are now home on 21-day furloughs.

Selective service board received a part report Saturday from the induction center, showing only the men taken for the Army.

How many were accepted for the Navy, Marines and Seabees will not be known until the complete report is received. It is indicated that many of the 53 men sent to Columbus have been inducted into the Navy. However, the final checkup cannot be reported until the draft office is given its official report.

Men who will report November 26 to travel to Fort Hayes, Columbus, for classification and assignment include:

Circleville: Russell George, Raymond Tomlinson, William David Fowler, Vernon Glenn Tracy, Marvin Harley Sowers, who was designated as acting corporal; Howard William Reeser, Willard Eugene Delong and Robert Brown.

Lockbourne: William Foster Puckett.

Columbus: William Gerald Shirey, William E. Kanode.

Orient: Thomas Ward Powell, Harold E. Burgett, Elmer Leo Neff.

Laurelville: Elmer C. Payne, Dayton: Virgil E. Russell.

Commercial Point: Francis Harold Martin.

Ashville: William A. Hettinger.

WORKERS' BUS MAY RUN FROM CITY TO CAPITAL

Possibility of establishment of a bus route between Circleville and Columbus to transport local workers to the Army depot and the Curtiss-Wright Corporation plants is being considered by civil service men and representatives of the depot and the airplane plant.

A crew of civil service and Army depot men came to Circleville Friday and succeeded in lining up approximately 40 persons to take jobs at the important Columbus station, but the question of how to get them to the depot has not yet been settled.

The contingent was back in Circleville Saturday trying to add more employees. The depot is gravely in need of more workers to move vital war materials to the various war theatres.

What action will be taken on the suggestion that a bus route be started may not be known for some time, although the question is certain to receive attention from depot and Curtiss-Wright officials.

Youngsters of the city are having a big time sitting in equipment brought to the city by the depot crew. A jeep, scout car and combat car are attracting much attention, and so is a field repair shop. The latter unit was taken back to the depot Saturday morning.

FUNERAL OF BABY

Funeral services were conducted Saturday in New Holland with burial in Williamsport cemetery for Charles Ernest Christopher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Christopher of near New Holland. The child died Thursday at 11 p. m. in Children's hospital, Columbus, where he had been a patient since Tuesday. The child was born in Circleville last August 6. Surviving in addition to the parents are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garrison of Clarksburg and Mrs. Anna Christopher of near Williamsport.

minute lunch period to permit another 15 minutes of productive work.

The 460,000 soft coal miners stand to receive $1.50 a day more than before the strike and the 80,000 hard coal diggers 70 cents more daily. The raises are based on increased production.

A minor point still at issue was the technical problem of pushing coal cars in the mines. The WLB suggested the question be settled in local negotiations.

Morse explained his vote against the agreement in a statement which declared the agreement was "the product of coercive action... negotiated under the duress of a strike" and contrary to established WLB policy.

Reports from the various coal fields throughout the country Friday revealed only a small percentage of the striking miners had returned to the pits. A number of striking miners had refused to return pending interpretation of the new agreement.

First localities to report full operations again were the strip mines where less preparation was necessary to resume production. Deep mines are not expected to be operating at war time peaks until next week.

Despite the immediate response of some miners to resume much-needed anthracite production, the bulk of Pennsylvania's hard coal miners stubbornly refused to return to work.

Coal officials estimated approximately 65 percent of the 80,000 anthracite workers were idle and there were no indications they would resume work until Monday.

In western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, strike-bound mines were returning to normal operations slowly, with only about 40 percent reported working.

It was estimated that the mines now operating were producing about 50 to 70 percent of capacity, with the big steel companies' pits faring better than the independents.

HARDER BLOWS AT HUNS URGED BY EISENHOWER

ALGIERS, Nov. 6—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander in the Mediterranean theatre, called on Allied forces to redouble their efforts and multiply their blows against the Germans to bring the war in Europe to early conclusion.

The American general made his statement in a message to both American military and civilian authorities in commemoration of the first anniversary of the landing of United States troops in North Africa.

He terms the feats achieved in the year since the invasion took place "a memorable chapter in the history of American arms in which are recorded deeds of valor, sacrifice, endurance and unswerving loyalty."

Gen. Eisenhower said that "hour by hour your efforts are contributing to the ultimate defeat of mighty military machines that hoped to conquer the world."

are extremely vulnerable to aerial attack. Therefore, it is considered unlikely that the Turks would be pressed into entering the war unless the Allies were about to launch a major campaign in the Balkans.

Bases Needed
Use of Turkish bases, on the other hand, would help the British drive the Germans out of the Eastern Mediterranean area, especially the Dodecanese islands. Such aid to the Allied cause also would put Turkey in a much more favorable position at the peace conference, and improve her relations with Russia.

A further move to strengthen Allied unity in Europe after the war is the imminent arrival in Moscow of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia. Benes will sign a long-term treaty of friendship with the Soviet Union. Final arrangements for this treaty between Czechoslovakia and Russia were made by Eden at the Moscow conference.

As part of the Allied diplomatic offensive to weaken Germany's hold on the satellites and neutrals, the American government also will shortly deliver a sharp warning to Spain against pro-Axis activities by the Franco Regime.

FILM CHIEFS PAY THOUSANDS IN SHAKE-DOWN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Testimony by the three top officials of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., that they paid thousands of dollars to Willie Bioff to prevent strikes which would have "ruined them" was added today to the government's mass of evidence against eight men accused of "shaking down" the industry for $1,000,000.

The witnesses were President Harry Warner, vice president and Treasurer Maj. Albert Warner, and Comptroller Samuel Carlisle. Seven of the defendants are former members of Al Capone's Chicago mob, and the other, a Newark, N. J., labor leader, is alleged to have dominated the IATSE stagehands' union.

Harry Warner testified that he had to "kick in" with $7500 in December, 1937, to "buy the (Chicago) boys Christmas presents. He said the payment was made to Bioff, labor racketeer and convicted extortionist, "to avoid a threatened nationwide theatre strike."

Previously, Maj. Warner testified that fear of financial collapse of the picture company through labor strikes prevented him from appealing to law enforcement agencies for help. He said he was forced to go along, "because any help I could have gotten from the authorities would have come too late."

When Carlisle took the stand, he said that huge sums ranging from ten to 20 thousand dollars were withdrawn and turned over to Maj. Warner to pay Bioff's demands.

ESTATE OF $30,664 LEFT BY FR. JOSEPH J. HERMAN

The Rev. Joseph J. Herman, former pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Circleville, leaves an estate valued at $30,664. An inventory and appraisal were filed Friday in Franklin county probate court. The priest died in Columbus June 21.

Under the will admitted to probate, the Rev. Fr. Herman bequeathed $3,500 to Bishop James J. Hartley of the Columbus diocese for masses, $100 to St. Joseph's church and the remainder to two sisters, Mrs. Frank Lang and Mrs. Bertha Yearling, and a niece, Miss Frances Lang, all of Columbus.

MELVIN ARLEDGE FINED

Melvin Arledge, of Amanda, indicted by the Fairfield county grand jury for resisting and abusing an officer, was fined $25 and costs Friday in Fairfield county common pleas court. Arledge paid the fine, which was assessed by Judge Frank M. Action. Arledge was arrested after he broke the nose of a Ross county deputy sheriff who tried to arrest his brother for a traffic violation.

First In Series

Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw, above, is the first speaker in the Rotary club's series of lectures in the annual Institute of International Understanding. The first address is scheduled next Thursday evening in the high school auditorium.

ROTARY CLUB'S INSTITUTE TO START THURSDAY

Rotary club's annual Institute of International Understanding will get under way next Thursday evening in the high school social room when Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw, of Hangchow, China, speaks. The club's series this year is centered around the general subject, "Contributors to a New World Order."

Dr. Shaw's subject will be: "Oriental Nations as Contributors."

All members of the Rotary club are selling tickets to the series of four addresses, other speakers being Lieutenant Colonel Edward F. Lascelles, London, Eng., on November 18; Dr. O. D. Foster, Washington D. C., December 2, and Simon Michael Davidson, Lima, O., December 16.

Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw was born in Chekiang, China. He received his education in Hangchow and Peiping, China, and did graduate work in Columbia university, New York City, where he was awarded the degree of Ph. D. in Economics.

In 1927, after completing his graduate work in America, he returned to China. Since then, he has held the following offices, which indicate his leadership in Asiatic economic activities. He has served as: president, China Institute of Industry and Commerce; director, Department of Commerce, Ministry of Economic Affairs, Chinese National Government; general manager, China National Tea Corporation; and chairman, board of directors, China National Products Company.

Dr. Shaw served as the Chinese government delegate to the International Chamber of Commerce Congress held at Amsterdam, 1929, and Chinese Employers delegate to the Conference of the International Labor Organization held in New York and Washington, in 1941.

Dr. Shaw is the author of a number of books on banking and finance, one of which "Democracy and Finance in China" is now being published by the Columbia university press of New York City.

miles to the west. The Russians thus also severed the Kiev-Korosten railway.

Germans Fail

The Germans sought desperately to stem the tide of Russian victory, throwing into battle tank and infantry reserves brought up from the rear and still weary from their forced marches. All enemy counter-attacks were repulsed, and at least 3,000 Nazis wiped out.

Of mopping up operation on the Nogais steppe, the midnight communique said, "Soviet troops have completely cleared the territory of the Peninsula south of the Dnieper estuary of German invaders."

Around Nevel, where Russian forces were less than 50 miles from the old Polish and Latvian borders, Soviet troops fought battles of "local significance" west and south-west of the White Russian city. Several towns were captured and 1,000 of the enemy annihilated.

When the enemy launched a counter-attack around Ermoshino, the Russians repulsed the Nazi drive, and encircled and wiped out the point of resistance. Elsewhere within the Dnieper bend, German counter-attacks were beaten off, and still there was no official report on action around the vital mining and rail center of Krivoy Rog.

German shipping likewise was battered. An enemy supply ship of 5,000 tons was sunk in the Baltic as were an escort vessel and a tug. The communique also told of the smashing of a complete eight-trawler flotilla by Soviet motor torpedo boats in the gulf of Narva.

PARROT GIVES CLUE TO KILLER OF CAFE OWNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—As bizarre as any far-fetched detective story of fiction is the case which police marked closed today with the arrest of Robert Butler, 28-year-old Negro cab driver.

Charged with the July 12 murder of Max Geller, owner of the Green Parrott bar and grill, Butler, actually was trapped by the parrot after which the bar was named.

It was on the night of the shooting that police lined up a dozen or more frightened customers who had witnessed the incident. But with Geller's body still in sight before them they declined to talk.

Then, suddenly, a large green parrot in the establishment began squawking, following the outbreak by shrieking: "Robert, Robert, Robert."

Acting on this clue, police grilled the patrons and learned that Butler had been in the place earlier.

Taken into custody in Baldwin yesterday, where he was working as a Caulker, Butler admitted the shooting, police said, but maintained that he acted in self defense after being threatened with a knife wielded by Geller.

The Americans took no pause but immediately began tackling the Nazi stronghold.

The entire right wing of the Fifth met more solid opposition as they tore into the enemy positions.

The left wing near the Tyrrhenian coast sped patrols across the Garigliano to explore the north banks and test the German resistance there. Nazi opposition sagged considerably on this sector in the past 48 hours and it appeared that the German troops were awaiting the approach of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces closer to their new mountain positions above the Garigliano.

AIRMEN POUND JAPS
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 6—Allied airmen under command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur engaged in battles today against Jap warships and troop convoys steaming south from the enemy naval base of Truk to reinforce the bomb-battered base of Rabaul on New Britain Island.

As part of the Allied diplomatic offensive to weaken Germany's hold on the satellites and neutrals, the American government also will shortly deliver a sharp warning to Spain against pro-Axis activities by the Franco Regime.

FILM CHIEFS PAY THOUSANDS IN SHAKE-DOWN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Testimony by the three top officials of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., that they paid thousands of dollars to Willie Bioff to prevent strikes which would have "ruined them" was added today to the government's mass of evidence against eight men accused of "shaking down" the industry for $1,000,000.

The witnesses were President Harry Warner, vice president and Treasurer Maj. Albert Warner, and Comptroller Samuel Carlisle. Seven of the defendants are former members of Al Capone's Chicago mob, and the other, a Newark, N. J., labor leader, is alleged to have dominated the IATSE stagehands' union.

Harry Warner testified that he had to "kick in" with $7500 in December, 1937, to "buy the (Chicago) boys Christmas presents. He said the payment was made to Bioff, labor racketeer and convicted extortionist, "to avoid a threatened nationwide theatre strike."

Previously, Maj. Warner testified that fear of financial collapse of the picture company through labor strikes prevented him from appealing to law enforcement agencies for help. He said he was forced to go along, "because any help I could have gotten from the authorities would have come too late."

When Carlisle took the stand, he said that huge sums ranging from ten to 20 thousand dollars were withdrawn and turned over to Maj. Warner to pay Bioff's demands.

ESTATE OF $30,664 LEFT BY FR. JOSEPH J. HERMAN

The Rev. Joseph J. Herman, former pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Circleville, leaves an estate valued at $30,664. An inventory and appraisal were filed Friday in Franklin county probate court. The priest died in Columbus June 21.

Under the will admitted to probate, the Rev. Fr. Herman bequeathed $3,500 to Bishop James J. Hartley of the Columbus diocese for masses, $100 to St. Joseph's church and the remainder to two sisters, Mrs. Frank Lang and Mrs. Bertha Yearling, and a niece, Miss Frances Lang, all of Columbus.

MELVIN ARLEDGE FINED

Melvin Arledge, of Amanda, indicted by the Fairfield county grand jury for resisting and abusing an officer, was fined $25 and costs Friday in Fairfield county common pleas court. Arledge paid the fine, which was assessed by Judge Frank M. Action. Arledge was arrested after he broke the nose of a Ross county deputy sheriff who tried to arrest his brother for a traffic violation.

Tense Quiet Prevails After Army Uses Tear Gas On Tule Camp Japs

First In Series

Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw, above, is the first speaker in the Rotary club's series of lectures in the annual Institute of International Understanding. The first address is scheduled next Thursday evening in the high school auditorium.

ROTARY CLUB'S INSTITUTE TO START THURSDAY

Rotary club's annual Institute of International Understanding will get under way next Thursday evening in the high school social room when Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw, of Hangchow, China, speaks. The club's series this year is centered around the general subject, "Contributors to a New World Order."

Dr. Shaw's subject will be: "Oriental Nations as Contributors."

All members of the Rotary club are selling tickets to the series of four addresses, other speakers being Lieutenant Colonel Edward F. Lascelles, London, Eng., on November 18; Dr. O. D. Foster, Washington D. C., December 2, and Simon Michael Davidian, Lima, O., December 16.

Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw was born in Chekiang, China. He received his education in Hangchow and Peiping, China, and did graduate work in Columbia university, New York City, where he was awarded the degree of Ph. D. in Economics.

In 1927, after completing his graduate work in America, he returned to China. Since then, he has held the following offices, which indicate his leadership in Asiatic economic activities. He has served as: president, China Institute of Industry and Commerce; director, Department of Commerce, Ministry of Economic Affairs, Chinese National Government; general manager, China National Tea Corporation; and chairman, board of directors, China National Products Company.

Dr. Shaw served as the Chinese government delegate to the International Chamber of Commerce Congress held at Amsterdam, 1929, and Chinese Employers delegate to the Conference of the International Labor Organization held in New York and Washington, in 1941.

Dr. Shaw is the author of a number of books on banking and finance, one of which "Democracy and Finance in China" is now being published by the Columbia university press of New York City.

FUGITIVE CONVICT KILLED

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 6—Victor Andreoli, life-term convict who escaped from the Eastern penitentiary in Philadelphia nine days ago, was shot and killed by state police today in a Chester restaurant. The 27-year-old fugitive, who had boasted "the first cop that lays a hand on me dies," was felled by four bullets from the pistols of three policemen when they surprised him as he ate breakfast in the Rainbow Grille.

miles to the west. The Russians thus also severed the Kiev-Korosten railway.

Germans Fail

The Germans sought desperately to stem the tide of Russian victory, throwing into battle tank and infantry reserves brought up from the rear and still weary from their forced marches. All enemy counter-attacks were repulsed, and at least 3,000 Nazis wiped out.

Of mopping up operation on the Ngalis steppe, the midnight communique said, "Soviet troops have completely cleared the territory of the Peninsula south of the Dnieper estuary of German invaders."

Around Nevel, where Russian forces were less than 50 miles from the old Polish and Latvian borders, Soviet troops fought battles of "local significance" west and south-west of the White Russian city. Several towns were captured and 1,000 of the enemy annihilated.

When the enemy launched a counter-attack around Ersmoshino, the Russians repulsed the Nazi drive and encircled and wiped out the point of resistance. Elsewhere within the Dnieper bend, German counter-attacks were beaten off, and still there was no official report on action around the vital mining and rail center of Kriyov Rog.

German shipping likewise was battered. An enemy supply ship of 5,000 tons was sunk in the Baltic as were an escort vessel and a tug. The communique also told of the smashing of a complete eight-trawler flotilla by Soviet motor torpedo boats in the gulf of Narva.

PARROT GIVES CLUE TO KILLER OF CAFE OWNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—As bizarre as any far-fetched detective story of fiction is the case which police marked closed today with the arrest of Robert Butler, 28-year-old Negro cab driver.

Charged with the July 12 murder of Max Geller, owner of the Green Parrot bar and grill, Butler, actually was trapped by the parrot after which the bar was named.

It was on the night of the shooting that police lined up a dozen or more frightened customers who had witnessed the incident. But with Geller's body still in sight before them they declined to talk.

Then, suddenly, a large green parrot in the establishment began squawking, following the outbreak by shrieking: "Robert, Robert, Robert."

Acting on this clue, police grilled the patrons and learned that Butler had been in the place earlier.

Taken into custody in Bailmore yesterday, where he was working as a Caulker, Butler admitted the shooting, police said, but maintained that he acted in self defense after being threatened with a knife wielded by Geller.

AWAKENING FROM NIGHTMARE

AFTER the great glow comes reaction. Can all this good news of the first week of November be too good to be true? The battle news from the South Pacific is splendid—that from southern Russia is equally so. That from Italy is good. The coal mines are under Uncle Sam once more, and the miners will work for him if not otherwise.

As for the Moscow agreements, so satisfactorily concluded by the four great nations—the American, sunk in war, talking of peace a little off the top of his mind, but prepared in his deeper self for more and more trouble, more tightening of the belt, for the idea that perhaps the loss of these thousands of lives may be only a prelude to losses of future wars—the American rubs his eyes. Is he awake or dreaming? Can this be true? Will there be strong and lasting peace?

It is not too good to be true if the peoples of the world want it to be true. But it takes more than agreements to make permanent peace. The new world must be worked for, humbly, prayerfully, persistently, intelligently and hard.

It is more difficult to be humble, persistent and intelligent than it is to be prayerful and hard-working. But the American can be all of these if he will. He has had practice in the processes of democracy. He knows they work.

WAR AND PEACE

IN time of peace, prepare for war," says the old motto. This present war has proved the soundness of the principle. When it came to the test, none of the peaceful nations were prepared. It had been the same in the first world war, but the nations forced to fight through that bitter war made no use of the victory when it was won. With incredible blindness or indifference, Britain, France and the United States assumed that declarations and pledges would fulfill themselves.

Everybody should know better now. The framework of a strong peace to be set up by the United Nations should bring about such a situation as prevailed when the ancient Roman Empire under Caesar Augustus worked at its best.

As for criminal states, actual or potential, there must be, and will be strong guards, powerful police forces, to suppress devilry and enforce peace under law until it becomes second nature. This, at least, now seems a reasonable hope for mankind, as we reverse the old motto and, while still in time of war, prepare for peace.

It is not defense, but attack, that wins wars.

Army Private Seeks Transfer, Case of Goat Versus Garden; Sees President—and Gets It! F. D. R. Settled That One, Too!

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

● WASHINGTON—He was a United States Army private. One of the three million. He had a chip on his shoulder. He thought the best way to get himself straightened out was to go to headquarters with his story.

So when he landed in Washington he hunted up a drug store, looked for a telephone book, got a nickel in change and dialed, "NA 1414." Then—

"Hello there! Is this the White House? Well I want to speak to the president. What? Isn't he in? ... Diddya say 'wait'? Sure I'll wait. As long as you say, mister. It's two hours till I pull out ... Hey there, operator! Must be something the matter with this line ... Oh, you're back again! Sure, I said I'd wait. Yes, I do want to speak to the president. There's something about the Army I think he'd like to know. I'm in the drug store at Ninth and Pennsylvania avenue. O. K. I'll stay here till your man comes. O. K."

Meanwhile, the secret service men whom the White House telephone operator had told about the soldier's call, were on their way to Ninth and the avenue. They had to find out about the guy. Was he dangerous or just cuckoo?

They found the soldier sitting calmly at a table reading a funny sheet and drinking a coke. He readily introduced himself, answered questions cheerfully and seemed entirely rational if a shade impulsive. He said he wanted only a minute with the president, and he knew he could make Mr. Roosevelt see he ought to be transferred to a different division.

The secret service men were so taken with the boy they bore him off to the White House and introduced him to Presidential Secretary Steve Early. Early was likewise pleased with the boy. Maybe just for the fun of the thing, he took him to the president.

The president must have liked the soldier, too. He said he would do what he could to help him. He must have done the right thing. The soldier got his transfer.

Another story that could not even be rumored except in the truly democratic United States has to do with another White House telephone call. A suburban wife got annoyed with a goat that kept

MINERS THIRD HIGHEST

WASHINGTON—Most people don't realize it, but the new wage boost granted the miners (which John L. Lewis didn't like) makes them the third highest paid wage group in the U. S. A.

On January 1, 1941, the miners ranked 20th, with weekly earnings of $26. In August, 1943, they had shot up to 11th, with a weekly average wage of $46.24. The new Illinois compromise agreement will put them at $54.74. The average wage paid in all manufacturing industries is $43.43.

Only wage groups getting better pay than the miners are (1) auto-workers and (2) transportation equipment workers, which means aircraft, shipyards, locomotives.

"HONEST HAROLD"

Interior Secretary Harold Ickes is known far and wide as "Honest Harold," but he will be embarrassed to learn why a young lady refused a hitch-hike offer in his automobile. She feared she would be robbed.

The young lady was standing with a friend at a bus stop where private motorists frequently offer lifts to bus riders. But the young lady said to her friend:

"I'm going to turn down anyone who offers me a ride this morning. I just cashed a check for $150 and I don't want to take any chances."

At that moment, a limousine drove up. "Going down town?" asked a gentleman in the back seat.

"No, thanks," was the reply.

As the car drove off, the young ladies suddenly recognized the man who had offered them a ride. It was none other than "Honest Harold."

WAR LABOR ROW

Some pretty hot words were exchanged privately among members of the War Labor Board during the coal wage dispute. They were chiefly attacks by A. F. of L. members, led by George Meany, against the WLB members representing the public.

Meany, two-fisted secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, tore into patriotic Chairman Will Davis so roughly that Davis later confided to friends that he didn't know how much longer he could stand being kicked around by both sides.

Meany's gripe was that Chairman Davis, Dean Wayne Morse of the University of Oregon, and other WLB members representing the public, were dominated by the White House and Economic Czar Vinson. He claimed they did not approach labor problems impartially, but took orders from above.

The AFL members felt so strongly on this that they issued a dissenting opinion publicly accusing WLB members of being "dominated" by other "government agencies." This brought a hot rejoinder from hard-working Wayne Morse, who challenged the AFL to show "a scintilla of evidence which supports their charge."

Real fact is that WLB members representing the public so strongly sold on wage stabilization they don't have to get instructions from Economic Czar Vinson. This

New Development In Transfusions

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE TERM "blood transfusion" now has a good many meanings. The blood is a complex structure and any part of it can be put into the veins of another person. Originally blood was taken from the veins of one animal or person and put into another. Two difficulties immediately were evident. One is that the blood of one species cannot mix with the blood of another species. It takes man's blood to combine with man's blood. You can't put sheep's blood into a man's vein without getting into trouble.

The second difficulty is that even with men some groups are not compatible or mixable with others. When one goes into the vein of another, the blood of one or the other clots. Still another phenomenon occurs, which is the blood of one person dissolves all the red cells of another, but that really doesn't make any trouble—so we disregard that.

Four Blood Groups

The Blood Groups International nomenclature with the proportionate incidence of the four groups as found in millions of persons:

O — 43 per cent
A — 40 per cent
B — 7 per cent
AB — 10 per cent

The technique of transfusion for a while was fairly understandable. But blood is made up of a plasma—clear fluid—in which float white and red corpuscles. The red corpuscles take up 40 per cent of the bulk of a given amount of blood. But also when they get transfused into another person, they make 40 per cent of the trouble. So, since most people who need transfusion need only serum which will give their heart some bulk to move around—salt transfusion which was first used did not stay in the veins more than half an hour—the idea was conceived that the blood could be withdrawn, centrifuged and allowed to settle and the blood plasma used.

This has had many advantages.

The plasma keeps almost indefinitely. And tests for compatibility do not have to be made. In war wounds in which the trouble is simply loss of fluid, it works wonderfully, as it has been doing on the battlefields.

Serum Albumin

An improvement on this lately is the use of serum albumin, which is part of the plasma. It has proved particularly valuable in wounds and has the quality of actually drawing the fluids from the tissues into the blood vessels.

It cannot only be used in shock, surgical shock and wounds with loss of blood, but in certain cases of dropsy.

But still a newer development has made its appearance in the blood transfusion scene. Blood plasma gives the wounded or shocked man fluid, but in preparing it there is terrible waste of red cells—40 per cent of the entire blood volume. It occurred to some Philadelphia physicians that this might be utilized also. There are patients with anemia who have plenty of plasma, but no red cells. Voila! So they have begun to use a transfusion in which they give the red cells alone in suspension of salt and sugar with good—even temporary life-saving—results.

So we are using all parts of the blood in various conditions for transfusion with good results. It's like the packers who saved every part of the animal but the squeal. We let the patient furnish the squeal.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. R.—How do you kill the mites of lice on the hair of a four year old girl, besides combing them?

Answer: The combing is good, but should be supplemented by soaking the scalp thoroughly in equal parts of crude petroleum and olive oil and the whole head bandaged loosely. This dissolves the glue which holds the mites to the hair and also kills the lice. The mixture is inflammable.

D. H.—What causes the ends of my fingers to peel? I was told it was due to lack of thyroid.

Answer: I would guess it was much more likely due to ring-worm infection.

CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

Roommates and cousins, BETH KINNAN, serious-minded and trusting, and ANDREA BARNES, rather self-centered and selfish, find that the tense, accompanying America's impending entrance into the war is beginning to affect their lives. For three years Beth has been going with JIM RONALD, who still has not been too successful in getting ahead in the world, while Andrea has been attracted by DENNIS ARCHER, 15 years her senior, but wealthy and interesting—and also married.

YESTERDAY: Jim tells Andrea, visiting at camp, that he has realized he loved her the night he had come to ask Beth to marry him.

CHAPTER EIGHT

IT WAS more like April than March. Now, at midnight, the fresh smell of new grass and moist earth lay on the night air with promise of early spring, and drawing it into herself, Beth Kinnan felt it press in a lump against her throat. In December, or July, or August, she would feel that hurt, but it was in April that it was unbearable. For it was in April that Jim had first come into her life. He was part of the first flowers she saw every spring, his voice was on the soft April breeze. He was April to her. How was she to bear it?

How was she to go back to the apartment tonight?

In the light of a street lamp she looked at her watch and saw that her slow walk home from Peg Woodruff's had not been slow enough. It was only five minutes after 12. Andrea's train had got back from Abington a little after 11, but Andrea would be waiting up to tell her all the things she must listen to as if each word were a thorn in her side.

There was nothing for it; she couldn't walk the streets until Andrea went to sleep. It would only be putting it all off until the next night. She braced her shoulders and went into the apartment, and when she heard Andrea's "Hi, Beth," she pretended to yawn as if she could not keep her eyes open more than two minutes, and asked casually, "Have a good time? How's Jim?"

"Wonderful to both!" Andrea's eyes were shining and she was sitting up in bed, her body wriggling with eagerness to talk.

"Good. Tell me about it tomorrow, Andy. I really can't keep awake tonight. Do you mind?"

"Of course I mind," Andrea said pleasantly. And furthermore, I won't let it stop me. It was a glorious week-end, Beth! Jim says I've got to bring you down with me next time."

Beth's teeth nearly bit through her tongue, but she said nothing.

"I stayed with a young couple named Thompson. Bettina was an Army nurse. She knew her husband only two weeks before they were married. They had a big party for me when I got there. Cocktails and canapés and a lovely buffet supper. We danced and stayed up quite late. Then Saturday Jim wanted to be alone with me."

"I know you had a wonderful time. I ... I've got to have a shower."

"Leave the door open," Andrea commanded, and when Beth got the shower going, Andrea called over it, "You know, Beth, I think I'm going to be good for Jim. He's a lazy somebody, but he's smart. When I get after him, he'll amount to something."

"Going to make him president?"

"President of something. He could be, you know. He has the quality of ruthlessness, and that's what a man needs when he doesn't step into a business his father leaves him."

Beth began to dry herself. "Have you told this to Jim?"

"Yes, and you know what he said, Beth?"

Beth, pulling her nightgown over her head, said she didn't.

"He said the only two women he'd ever known who could have a y influence off him were you and me."

Beth's fingers fumbled with the belt of her nightie, and she could feel the warmth steal up in her cheeks. "Did he say ... say that?"

"Yes, darling. I thought you'd like to know. He's very fond of you, Beth."

Beth pulled the cord on the lamp between their beds and the room was dark, save for the faint reflection from the street lamp outside.

"You know, something, Beth? Jim loves me, but ... but I think he feels the same way about me that I feel about him. It's awfully funny. I haven't got it figured out. I'm not sure ..."

"Don't you think you'd better figure it out before you discuss it with me?"

"No. I—I want you to know. It's as if ..."

Beth said, "Dennis rang you up this morning."

Andrea leaped to a sitting position. "He couldn't," she said. "He's in Duluth. His operator said ... what did he say, Beth? Any message?"

"No," Beth said, quietly. "I thought you weren't seeing him any more, now that you're engaged to Jim. I thought you promised that to Jim."

"Jim! Jim! I'm not married to him yet! Is Dennis going to call me again? Tell me everything he said."

"He asked for you and I said you were not here ..."

"Did you tell him where I was?"

"No. He said, 'Thank you, and rang off. Now, if you please, I don't want to talk to you any more tonight.'" Beth's voice was agitated.

After a moment or two, Andrea got out of bed and came over to Beth's bed and laid her cheek against Beth's, saying softly, "Are you angry with me, Bethie?"

Beth said, "Yes."

"Why?" Andrea wheedled. "Is Andrea a bad girl?"

"Andrea is anything but ... but what I want her to be. Andy, don't you know you can't have your cake and eat it, too? Don't you know you have to treat people the way you'd want them to treat you?"

"But I do!"

"Not Jim ... not Dennis."

"I can't help it if I still like Dennis, can I?"

Beth's resentment flared up again, giving her strength to resist Andrea's winsomeness. "Yes, you can," she said. "Now, will you please go to bed and let me get some sleep?"

"I won't go to bed until you say you aren't angry with me any more." Andrea tried the little girl line that had always worked before.

Beth sat up in bed. "I shall be angry with you until you grow up and act like a woman. You're a very lucky girl, Andrea. You're engaged to a fine person. You have everything that a woman could want to look forward to and you are acting like ... like ... I can't say it, but it's not honorable. I thought I had taught you to be honorable. By your own admission you have not told Dennis you are engaged to marry Jim. Why not? Do you still hope to marry HIM?"

"No," Andrea answered in a small voice.

"Then why does it excite you wildly to hear that he telephoned you? You've just left the man you presumably love. You've just been trying to tell me how you and Jim feel about each other and then ... then this!"

"I'd like to keep Dennis for a friend."

"Now you are lying to me."

Andrea yawned. "All right, all right. Jim's at camp. Dennis is here. I've had some very good times with Dennis. There isn't any reason why I shouldn't dine with him occasionally, is there?"

Beth failed to answer.

Andrea went back to her own bed. She said, "It's been such fun living together. Beth. It won't be fun if you're going to be angry with me."

Beth reached for the cord of the lamp to put on the light, but drew her hand back. There would be time enough to tell Andrea that they were not going to live together much longer when Beth knew definitely what she was going to do.

She lay awake long enough that way to escape Pennington and its memories, not knowing that the way was being made for her.

Horoscope for Sunday

Today as a birthday gives inheritance or accumulated possessions.

For Sunday, November 7

SUNDAY's horoscope holds excellent promise for those ambitious for advancement. Also all cultural or intellectual aims are auspiciously stimulated, although it may be desirable to make changes in plans or environs. It would be well to maintain poise, amiability, and avert dangers.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a very active and progressive year with promotion, favors and preferment from influential persons. There may be a change, travel, new objectives or tactics, but all should prosper providing a tendency be suppressed to careless speech, high temper or other impetuous moves, which might entail physical danger as well as peril to cherished plans, business and private.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally talented, versatile and ambitious, winning support from high places, although it may be impetuous, and irritable.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Ethel Kirchofer, superintendent of Berger hospital for six years, resigned to return to her home in Wooster to care for her ailing mother.

Perry Faulkner of Montpelier was guest speaker at the Pickaway county Democratic meeting Memorial hall, attended by approximately 1,000 persons.

Miss Edith Bennett of Brooklyn, New York, spent a month with her nieces, Miss Helen Rowe and Mrs. Marion Rowe Lutz, of North Court street.

10 YEARS AGO

W. Scott Carpenter, 84, suffered a fracture of the right hip when the horse he was riding fell with him near his home in Darbyville.

The Rev. Henry N. Hyde, rector of All Saint's church, Portsmouth, was to deliver the special anniversary sermon at the celebration of St. Philip's Episcopal church centennial.

Twenty-seven students from Circleville and Pickaway county were enrolled at Ohio State university, according to a report from the school.

25 YEARS AGO

Albert E. Cook wrote home that France was a fine country and that he was enjoying his work with the Medical department of the 64th artillery. He said that his first night in France was enlivened by an air raid.

After the encouraging report of the board of health of only nine new cases of influenza, restrictions on the closing of churches were lifted and others were to be removed as fast as conditions warranted such action.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pontius and daughter, Mrs. Clarence Ater, and son, Wilson Howard, returned from Camp Meade, Washington, D. C., where they were guests of Leland Pontius, who was to leave soon for France.

It was estimated at one time that if the population of the whole earth was put into the state of Texas, U. S. A., each person could be allotted 42.3 square feet of space.

AWAKENING FROM NIGHTMARE

AFTER the great glow comes reaction. Can all this good news of the first week of November be too good to be true? The battle news from the South Pacific is splendid—that from southern Russia is equally so. That from Italy is good. The coal mines are under Uncle Sam once more, and the miners will work for him if not otherwise.

As for the Moscow agreements, so satisfactorily concluded by the four great nations—the American, sunk in war, talking of peace a little off the top of his mind, but prepared in his deeper self for more and more trouble, more tightening of the belt, for the idea that perhaps the loss of these thousands of lives may be only a prelude to losses of future wars—the American rubs his eyes. Is he awake or dreaming? Can this be true? Will there be strong and lasting peace?

It is not too good to be true if the peoples of the world want it to be true. But it takes more than agreements to make permanent peace. The new world must be worked for, humbly, prayerfully, persistently, intelligently and hard.

It is more difficult to be humble, persistent and intelligent than it is to be prayerful and hard-working. But the American can be all of these if he will. He has had practice in the processes of democracy. He knows they work.

WAR AND PEACE

"In time of peace, prepare for war," says the old motto. This present war has proved the soundness of the principle. When it came to the test, none of the peaceful nations were prepared. It had been the same in the first world war, but the nations forced to fight through that bitter war made no use of the victory when it was won. With incredible blindness or indifference, Britain, France and the United States assumed that declarations and pledges would fulfill themselves.

Everybody should know better now. The framework of a strong peace to be set up by the United Nations should bring about such a situation as prevailed when the ancient Roman Empire under Caesar Augustus worked at its best.

As for criminal states, actual or potential, there must be, and will be strong guards, powerful police forces, to suppress devilry and enforce peace under law until it becomes second nature. This, at least, now seems a reasonable hope for mankind, as we reverse the old motto and, while still in time of war, prepare for peace.

It is not defense, but attack, that wins wars.

Army Private Seeks Transfer, Case of Goat Versus Garden; Sees President—and Gets It! F. D. R. Settled That One, Too!

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—He was a United States Army private. One of the three million. He had a chip on his shoulder. He thought the best way to get himself straightened out was to go to headquarters with his story.

So when he landed in Washington he hunted up a drug store, looked for a telephone book, got a nickel in change and dialed, "NA 1414." Then—

"Hello there! Is this the White House? Well I want to speak to the president. What? Isn't he in? . . . Did you say 'wait'? Sure I'll wait. As long as you say, mister. It's two hours till I pull out. . . . Hey there, operator! Must be something the matter with this line. . . . Oh, you're back again! Sure. I said I'd wait. Yes, I do want to speak to the president. There's something about the Army I think he'd like to know. I'm in the drug store at Ninth and Pennsylvania avenue. O. K. I'll stay here till your man comes. O. K."

Meanwhile, the secret service men whom the White House telephone operator had told about the soldier's call, were on their way to Ninth and the avenue. They had to find out about the guy. Was he dangerous or just cuckoo?

They found the soldier sitting calmly at a table reading a funny sheet and drinking a coke. He readily introduced himself, answered questions cheerfully and seemed entirely rational if a shade impulsive. He said he wanted only a minute with the president, and he knew he could make Mr. Roosevelt see he ought to be transferred to a different division.

The secret service men were so taken with the boy they bore him off to the White House and introduced him to Presidential Secretary Steve Early. Early was likewise pleased with the boy. Maybe just for the fun of the thing, he took him to the president.

The president must have liked the soldier, too. He said he would do what he could to help him. He must have done the right thing. The soldier got his transfer.

Another story that could not even be rumored except in the truly democratic United States has to do with another White House telephone call. A suburban wife got annoyed with a goat that kept

MINERS THIRD HIGHEST

WASHINGTON—Most people don't realize it, but the new wage boost granted the miners (which John L. Lewis didn't like) makes them the third highest paid wage group in the U. S. A.

On January 1, 1941, the miners ranked 20th, with weekly earnings of $26. In August, 1943, they had shot up to 11th, with a weekly average wage of $46.24. The new Illinois compromise agreement will put them at $54.74. The average wage paid in all manufacturing industries is $43.43.

Only wage groups getting better pay than the miners are (1) auto-workers and (2) transportation equipment workers, which means aircraft, shipyards, locomotives.

"HONEST HAROLD"

Interior Secretary Harold Ickes is known far and wide as "Honest Harold," but he will be embarrassed to learn why a young lady refused a hitch-hike offer in his automobile. She feared she would be robbed.

The young lady was standing with a friend at a bus stop where private motorists frequently offer lifts to bus riders. But the young lady said to her friend:

"I'm going to turn down anyone who offers me a ride this morning. I just cashed a check for $150 and I don't want to take any chances."

At that moment, a limousine drove up. "Going down town?" asked a gentleman in the back seat.

"No, thanks," was the reply.

As the car drove off, the young ladies suddenly recognized the man who had offered them a ride. It was none other than "Honest Harold."

WAR LABOR ROW

Some pretty hot words were exchanged privately among members of the War Labor Board during the coal wage dispute. They were chiefly attacks by A. F. of L. members, led by George Meany, against the WLB members representing the public.

Meany, two-fisted secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, tore into patriotic Chairman Will Davis so roughly that Davis later confided to friends that he didn't know how much longer he could stand being kicked around by both sides.

Meany's gripe was that Chairman Davis, Dean Wayne Morse of the University of Oregon, and other WLB members representing the public, were dominated by the White House and Economic Czar Vinson. He claimed they did not approach labor problems impartially, but took orders from above.

The AFL members felt so strongly on this that they issued a dissenting opinion publicly accusing WLB members of being "dominated" by other "government agencies." This brought a hot rejoinder from hard-working Wayne Morse, who challenged the AFL to show "a scintilla of evidence which supports their charge."

Real fact is that WLB members representing the public so strongly sold on wage stabilization they don't have to get instructions from Economic Czar Vinson. This (Continued on Page Eight)

New Development In Transfusions

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE TERM "blood transfusion" now has a good many meanings. The blood is a complex structure and any part of it can be put into the veins of another person. Originally blood was taken from the veins of one animal or person and put into another. Two difficulties immediately were evident. One is that the blood of one species cannot mix with the blood of another species. It takes man's blood to combine with man's blood. You can't put sheep's blood into a man's vein without getting into trouble.

The second difficulty is that even with men some groups are not compatible or mixable with others. When one goes into the vein of another, the blood of one or the other clots. Still another phenomenon occurs, which is the blood of one person dissolves all the red cells of another, but that really doesn't make any trouble—so we disregard that.

Our Blood Groups

The Blood Groups International nomenclature with the proportionate incidence of the four groups as found in millions of persons:

O — 43 per cent
A — 40 per cent
B — 7 per cent
AB — 10 per cent

The technique of transfusion for a while was fairly understandable. But blood is made up of a plasma—clear fluid—in which float white and red corpuscles. The red corpuscles take up 40 per cent of the bulk of a given amount of blood. But also when they get transfused into another person, they make 40 per cent of the trouble. So, since most people who need transfusion need only serum which will give their heart some bulk to move around—salt transfusion which was first used did not stay in the veins more than half an hour—the idea was conceived that the blood could be withdrawn, centrifuged and allowed to settle and the blood plasma alone used.

This has had many advantages.

We are using all parts of the blood in various conditions for transfusion with good results. It's like the packers who saved every part of the animal but the squeal. We let the patient furnish the squeal.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. R.—How do you kill the nits or eggs of lice on the hair of a four year old girl, besides combing them?

Answer: The combing is good, but should be supplemented by soaking the scalp thoroughly in equal parts of crude petroleum and olive oil and the whole head bandaged loosely. This dissolves the glue which holds the nits to the hair and also kills the lice. The mixture is inflammable.

D. H.—What causes the ends of my fingers to peel? I was told it was due to lack of thyroid.

Answer: I would guess it was much more likely due to ring-worm infection.

SYNOPSIS

Roommates and cousins, BETH KINNAN, serious-minded and trusting, and ANDREA BARNES, rather self-centered and selfish, find that the tense atmosphere accompanying America's impending entrance into the war is beginning to affect their lives. For three years Beth has been going with JIM RONALD, who still has not been too successful in getting ahead in the world, while Andrea has been attracted by DENNIS ARCHER, 15 years her senior, but wealthy and interesting—and also married.

YESTERDAY: Jim tells Andrea, visiting at camp, that he first realized he loved her the night he had come to ask Beth to marry him.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds excellent promise for those ambitious for advancement. Also all cultural or intellectual aims are auspiciously stimulated, although it may be desirable to make changes in plans or environments. It would be well to maintain poise, amiability, and avert dangers.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a very active and progressive year with promotion, favors and preferment from influential persons. There may be a change, travel, new objectives or tactics, but all should prosper providing a tendency be suppressed to careless speech, high temper or other impetuous moves, which might entail physical danger as well as peril to cherished plans, business and private.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally talented, versatile and ambitious, winning support from high places, although it may be impetuous, and irritable.

Scripture—Exodus 20:13; Matt. 5:21-26; 36:45.

Jesus said: "Ye have heard it said Thou shalt not kill; but I say unto you, whosoever is angry with his brother without cause is in danger of the judgment."

If thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath sought against thee, first be reconciled to thy brother, and then offer thy gift.

It has been said an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, but Jesus said, resist not evil; whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other.

Church Briefs

In order to avoid conflict in dates with future revival meetings, Church of Christ in Christian Union is announcing its annual revival to be held from February 13 to 27. Engaged to participate in the revival are the Rev. Sammy Sparks, Methodist evangelist and the Rev. and Mrs. E. Clay Milby, song evangelists of Bentonville, Ark.

Special evangelistic services will be held November 22 to December 5 in the Circleville United Brethren church with the Rev. Sylvester Sanford of Galesburg, Ill., as evangelist.

Prayer service for the United Brethren church congregation will be conducted Wednesday at 7:30. The official board will meet following the service.

"An Adequate Gospel" will be the sermon subject chosen for Sunday morning services at the First Methodist church by the Rev. Clarence Swearingen. The choir anthem will be "Lead On, O King Eternal."

"Whose New Order?" will be the subject of Sunday's sermon by the Rev. Carl L. Kennedy at the First Presbyterian church. The sermon, based on the text from Revelation 21:3, "And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new," will deal with the new world order that will come inevitably, following the war. Mrs. Clark Will and the Presbyterian choir will sing Treharne's anthem, "I Will Lift Mine Eyes." Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, returned to the organ console following her illness, will play the following compositions: "Meditation" by Sturges, "Pilgrim's Chorus" from Wagner's opera "Tannhauser," Schubert's "Serenade," and "Tempo di Menuetto" by Lansing. The morning service of worship begins promptly at 10:20 with the organ meditation.

The Presbyterian Session will meet in the Men's classroom immediately following the morning service Sunday.

The Westminster Bible Class of Presbyterian church, at a meeting at Miss Mary Heffner's this week, voted to purchase ten copies of the new "Hymnal for Youth" for the Sunday school.

The Presbyterian Tuxis club for high school youth will hold its regular bi-monthly meeting on Thursday evening, November 11, at nine o'clock. Charles Will is to lead the discussion on the subject, "We Can Still Believe in the Power of Prayer."

Lutheran church meetings next week will include: Monday, Von Bora, parish house, 7:30; Tuesday, Christ Church Luther League.

These meetings and to visit the Reading Room, which is open daily, is extended to all.

Scripture—Exodus 20:13; Matt. 5:21-26; 38:45.

If thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath against thee, first be reconciled to thy brother, and then offer thy gift.

It has been said an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, but Jesus said, resist not evil; whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other.

Jesus said, love your enemies, bless them that curse you, pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute you; GOLDEN TEXT—I John 3:15.

Church Briefs

In order to avoid conflict in dates with future revival meetings, Church of Christ in Christian Union is announcing its annual revival to be held from February 13 to 27. Engaged to participate in the revival are the Rev. Sammy Sparks, Methodist evangelist and the Rev. and Mrs. E. Clay Milby, song evangelists of Bentonville, Ark.

Special evangelistic services will be held November 22 to December 5 in the Circleville United Brethren church with the Rev. Sylvester Sanford of Galesburg, Ill., as evangelist.

Prayer service for the United Brethren church congregation will be conducted Wednesday at 7:30. The official board will meet following the service.

"An Adequate Gospel" will be the sermon subject chosen for Sunday morning services at the First Methodist church by the Rev. Clarence Swearingen. The choir anthem will be "Lead On, O King Eternal."

"Whose New Order?" will be the subject of Sunday's sermon by the Rev. Carl L. Kennedy at the First Presbyterian church. The sermon, based on the text from Revelation 21:5, "And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new," will deal with the new world order that will come inevitably, following the war. Mrs. Clark Will and the Presbyterian choir will sing Trehan's anthem, "I Will Lift Mine Eyes." Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, returned to the organ console following her illness, will play the following compositions: "Meditation" by Sturges, "Pilgrim's Chorus" from Wagner's opera "Tannhauser," Schubert's "Serenade," and "Tempo di Menuetto" by Lansing. The morning service of worship begins promptly at 10:20 with the organ meditation.

The Presbyterian Session will meet in the Men's classroom immediately following the morning service Sunday.

The Westminster Bible Class of Presbyterian church, at a meeting at Miss Mary Heffner's this week, voted to purchase ten copies of the new "Hymnal for Youth" for the Sunday school.

The Presbyterian Tuxis club for high school youth will hold its regular bi-monthly meeting on Thursday evening, November 11, at nine o'clock. Charles Will is to lead the discussion on the subject, "We Can Still Believe in the Power of Prayer."

Lutheran church meetings next week will include: Monday, Von Bora, parish house, 7:30; Tuesday, Christ Church Luther League, these meetings and to visit the Reading Room, which is open daily, is extended to all.

Fumbles, Passes, Tough Decisions Give Tigers Defeat At Grove City

Circleville high Tigers dropped a 16 to 13 verdict at Grove City Friday night in a hard-fought grid contest that saw just about everything happen that could possibly be put into one book.

The Red and Black lost its game in the first half when two fumbles gave big Jim Reibel a chance to toss a pair of rainbow passes that hit their marks, one across the goal line into the waiting arms of Jim Jahn and the other putting the ball in position for Reibel himself to put the leather over the goal.

The payoff points were gathered just as the first half ended when Reibel stepped back to the 16 and booted the ball between the uprights for three points. Grove City held a 13-7 lead at that time, the field goal meaning that the Tigers had to score twice to win if Grove City failed to count another one.

Many Circleville fans thought the kick had been ruled no good. Referee Heischman held his arms in the air indicating good, while Umpire Rush waved his arms "no good" under the goal posts. At the half Rush said he was signalling that the half had ended.

The story of the first half is a story of long, arching passes that hit their marks with Tiger secondary unable to maneuver with the ball.

Action started early in the game. Grove City received and was forced to kick after making one first down, but Morgan fumbled the bounding ball. Hill covering for the Greyhound crew on the Circleville 22, Reibel, who had not started because of an ankle injury, which never was apparent during the night, came into the game. Two plays were run with no gain before Reibel started to his right. Jahn cut down the left side of the field, stopped in the end zone and caught a high pass for the touchdown despite the fact that a Tiger defender stood beside him. Reibel's kick was no good.

Lose Ball on 16

The Tigers took possession on the kickoff and drove down the field, but, confining all their attack to the line, the offensive bogged down on the 16, Grove City taking over.

A punt exchange saw the Groves with possession on their 20. A line play failed and Reibel tossed another pass, this one into the middle of the line. Lenny Hill came up with the ball, had only Reibel to outrun and crossed the goal standing up. Jim Dade's placement was perfect.

A fumble by Hill gave Grove City a start on its second touchdown, the Tiger fullback fumbling on the CHS 40, and Bob Hill again covering for Grove City. Another rainbow toss from Reibel to Jahn, this time good to the two yard line, did the work. Jahn was covered by two Tigers, but neither could get his hands on the ball. The touchdown was a mere formality, Reibel going over his right tackle. Jim Wells was hurt on this play, suffering a blow on the jaw that kept him in the locker room the remainder of the game. He was to undergo examination Saturday to determine whether a muscle might have been torn.

After the Tigers received, Hill came up with a pass interception on the Tiger 41. Reibel carried it to the 20 in two plays, and a Reibel to Washburn pass was good to the eight. When two plays failed and only four seconds remained in the half, Reibel kicked his placement.

Tough Ruling Hurts
The second half was a hard-fought affair with neither team holding much of an advantage, although a mighty tough decision is still being claimed by the Tigers.

The Tigers scored a touchdown just as the fourth period started when Sims sneaked at center for two yards after a Sims to Morgan pass moved the leather from the 40 to the 18. Dade's kick was wide to make the score 16 to 13.

Grove City had received the kickoff and was moving down the field at a rapid pace. Reibel and Jahn picking up plenty of yards.

Then came the disputed play. Jahn hit over his right guard for what was apparently a touchdown, but Bob Valentine smacked him hard, the G. C. ball totter fumbling. Mack Young says he bumped the ball into the air before it ever hit the ground, and Leon Sims grabbed it, running the length of the field for what he thought was a touchdown. Umpire Bill Rush ran with him, and credited him with a touchdown. However, Referee Heischman didn't think so. He ruled the ball hit the ground, making it a touchback, giving no one any points and CHS possession on the 20.

End Jim Dade was hurt on the play, picking up a sweet block to help Sims in his run. The tall end, who plays a whale of a game all the way and does the Tiger place-kicking, will probably be lost for

OHIO HOPING TO END STREAK OF GRID THUMPINGS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6.—A battered, but courageous freshman-studded Ohio State contingent, will attempt to break its four-game losing streak today at the expense of a weak, but tricky Pittsburgh Panther eleven.

The Bucks, underdogs in all contests played this season with the exception of the Missouri fray, will enter the scrap as a slight favorite, even though the Panthers have chalked up three triumphs while the Bucks hold a solitary 27-6 victory over Missouri.

Plagued by injuries and the fact they took severe mental as well as physical beatings in losing to such powerhouses as the Iowa Sea-hawks, Great Lakes, Purdue, Northwestern and Indiana, the Bucks have fought against heavy odds throughout the campaign.

However, against Clark Shaugnessy's Panthers, the Bucks will be equal in experience and weight, and slightly superior in talent, Pitt is minus talent with the exception of Joe Mocha, 17-year-old freshman who can really fling those passes.

Mocha, 168-pound quarterback, is the Pitt threat with his passing. Against Illinois, Mocha hit end Jim Malone six straight times and completed 14 out of 17 passes during the contest.

State will again depend on its two offensive threats, Ernie Parks and Dean Sensenbaur. Sensenbaur, an 18-year-old freshman, is the Buck's most consistent ground gainer and a dangerous man at all times. In last Saturday's 20-14 defeat administered by Bob Hoernschmeyer and ten other Indiana Hoosiers, Sensenbaur scored both State touchdowns, with Ernie Parks lending a valuable hand.

GREEN BAY TO SHOOT WORKS AGAINST BEARS

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Packers of Green Bay better be packing plenty of football moxie tomorrow to toss at the Chicago Bears, for this is the game the pack eleven really needs.

Both clubs will be throwing everything they have into the struggle because to the victor goes the lead in the western division of the National Football league and, barring a future upset, the right to meet the Washington Redskins in the professional football final.

This 50th renewal of the most bitter and spectacular rivalry in pro football will be watched by upwards of 45,000 eager fans, depending on how many standing room admissions the Bear management decides to sell.

Pitted against the great Sid Luckman and his cast of pass receivers will be the running and passing of Tony Canadeo and the catching of the equally great Don Hutson.

NEW MICHIGAN LINEUP TO BE TESTED TODAY

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 6.—Michigan's offense underwent a drastic alteration today as the Wolverines met a dangerous Indiana football team.

With Fullback Bill Daley missing from the ranks of the co-leaders with Purdue in the race for the Big Ten championship, Coach Fritz Crisler had to revamp his backfield. Then, too, Tackle Marvin Pregulman was lost to the squad and filling those two positions presented Crisler with a knotty problem.

To cope with the situation he shoved Bob Wiese back to his old fullback spot and put Jack Wink in at quarterback, where Wiese has been holding forth. Bob Derleth drew the starting assignment in the vacated tackle slot.

Michigan was keyed to one objective — keeping Freshman Bob Hoernschmeyer from passing the Hoosiers to an upset. Bob has a record of 49 pass completion in 110 flips.

LACH CARRIES BURDEN IN GAME WITH GRANT

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Nov. 6.—On Steve Lach, ailing halfback of the Great Lakes football team, appeared to hinge the difference between victory and defeat as the Bluejackets took the field today against the Camp Grant soldiers.

The soldiers boasted a more rugged line and a couple of break-away runners in Tony Storti and Corwin Clatt.

Lach, one of the Bluejackets nursing varied injuries, has been the big gun in Great Lakes' six victories against two defeats this year. The soldiers have won only two of their seven games.

The oldest water works in the United States can be seen at Schaefferstown, seven miles southeast of Lebanon, Pa. Its wooden mains were laid in 1726.

IRISH FAVORED IN BIG SCRAP WITH CADET

Loss Of Angelo Bertelli Big Factor; Doug Kenna To Play With Army

BY LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—An unbeaten Notre Dame football team, which defiantly insists that it is as good as ever despite the loss of Angelo Bertelli was ready to prove it today against the Army eleven from West Point since the 1920's. The latter is unwhipped and tied only by Penn.

Before more than 70,000 spectators the Irish from Notre Dame and the cadets from up the Hudson clashed this afternoon at Yankee stadium, with the former top-heavy favorites among the majority but with a few observers stringing along with Army to win or make it close.

The loss of Bertelli, the brain of Notre Dame's T-formation, the passer and defense star in all the Irish have accomplished up to now, should make a difference and it may be that his loss will decide the outcome of this particular resumption of a rivalry dating back to 1913. In that case it would be an Army win.

Not only have the Irish lost Bertelli, but Army expected to have the services of Doug Kenna, who has been out all season, except last Saturday, with a bad knee. Against Penn, he limbered up that knee in preparation for today's encounter and was pronounced ready to go all the way, barring accidents. He is a whale of a halfback—as was Bertelli for Notre Dame until he left for Marine Corps training at Parris Island.

The wagering was on Notre Dame. The established odds were against Army and 14 points. Some took Notre Dame and gave as many as 21 points.

This silly situation prevailed despite the fact that Bertelli is gone and Julie Rykovich, another Notre Dame back, has been ailing

Fumbles, Passes, Tough Decisions Give Tigers Defeat At Grove City

Circleville high Tigers dropped a 16 to 13 verdict at Grove City Friday night in a hard-fought grid contest that saw just about everything happen that could possibly be put into one book.

The Red and Black lost its game in the first half when two fumbles gave big Jim Reibel a chance to toss a pair of rainbow passes that hit their marks, one across the goal line into the waiting arms of Jim Jahn and the other putting the ball in position for Reibel himself to put the leather over the goal.

The payoff points were gathered just as the first half ended when Reibel stepped back to the 16 and booted the ball between the uprights for three points. Grove City held a 13-7 lead at that time, the field goal meaning that the Tigers had to score twice to win if Grove City failed to count another one.

Many Circleville fans thought the kick had been ruled no good. Referee Heischman held his arms in the arm indicating good, while Umpire Rush waved his arms "no good" under the goal posts. At the half Rush said he was signalling that the half had ended.

The story of the first half is a story of long, arching passes that hit their marks with Tiger secondary unable to maneuver with the ball.

Action started early in the game. Grove City received and was forced to kick after making one first down, but Morgan fumbled the bounding ball, Hill covering for the Greyhound crew on the Circleville 22. Reibel, who had not started because of an ankle injury, which never was apparent during the night, came into the game. Two plays were run with no gain before Reibel started to his right. Jahn cut down the left side of the field, stopped in the end zone and caught a high pass for the touchdown despite the fact that a Tiger defender stood beside him. Reibel's kick was no good.

Lose Ball on 16

The Tigers took possession on the kickoff and drove down the field, but, confining all their attack to the line, the offensive bogged down on the 16, Grove City taking over.

A punt exchange saw the Groves with possession on their 20. A line play failed and Reibel tossed another pass, this one into the middle of the line. Lenny Hill came up with the ball, had only Reibel to outrun and crossed the goal standing up. Jim Dade's placement was perfect.

A fumble by Hill gave Grove City a start on its second touchdown, the Tiger fullback fumbling on the CHS 40, and Bob Hill again covering for Grove City. Another rainbow toss from Reibel to Jahn, this time good to the two yard line, did the work. Jahn was covered by two Tigers, but neither could get his hands on the ball. The touchdown was a mere formality. Reibel going over his right tackle, Jim Wells was hurt on this play, suffering a blow on the jaw that kept him in the locker room the remainder of the game. He was to undergo examination Saturday to determine whether a muscle might have been torn.

After the Tigers received, Jahn came up with a pass interception to the Tiger 41. Reibel carried it to the 20 in two plays, and a Reibel to Washburn pass was good to the eight. When two plays failed and only four seconds remained in the half, Reibel kicked his placement.

Tough Ruling Hurts

The second half was a hard-fought affair with neither team holding much of an advantage, although a mighty tough decision is still being claimed by the Tigers.

The Tigers scored a touchdown just as the fourth period started when Sims sneaked at center for two yards after a Sims to Morgan pass moved the leather from the 40 to the 18. Dade's kick was wide to make the score 16 to 13.

Grove City had received the kickoff and was moving down the field at a rapid pace, Reibel and Jahn picking up plenty of yards. Then came the disputed play. Jahn hit over his right guard for what was apparently a touchdown, but Bob Valentine smacked him hard, the G. C. ball totter fumbling. Mack Young says he bumped the ball into the air before it ever hit the ground, and Leon Sims grabbed it, running the length of the field for what he thought was a touchdown. Umpire Bill Rush ran with him, and credited him with a touchdown. However, Referee Heischman didn't think so. He ruled the ball hit the ground, making it a touchback, giving no one any points and CHS possession on the 20.

End Jim Dade was hurt on the play, picking up a sweet block to help Sims in his run. The end all, who plays a whale of a game all the way and does the Tiger place-kicking, will probably be lost for the Washington C. H. game, suffering a broken rib.

Pass Hits Shoulder

The game ended only a minute after a Sims pass to Gillis, who was in the clear, failed to click. The ball hit Gillis in the shoulder and bounded away. Had the leatherer stuck the entire picture would have been changed.

Circleville scored 15 first downs to 14 for Grove City, but two fumbles, a pair of rainbow passes, a placekick that was ruled good and no good and then good, and a 100 yard run that was declared void tell the story.

GAME NOTES: Captain Bob Valentine was taken before the Grove City bench before the game to take part in crowning the homecoming queen. Presented a chrysanthemum, he carried it across the field, presenting it to his mother. Valentine played opposite the best boy he had faced all year in Cain. Greyhound center. Big Jim Reibel didn't like it when Howard Moore put a tough tackle on him in the fourth period, taking a slap at the Tiger tackle. Umpire Rudy watched it, but warned Reibel to do it no more. Reibel was in motion half a dozen times ahead of the ball, but the most it cost him was an admonition by Heischman to quit being a naughty boy. Tiger gridgers were forced to take their shower baths in a sink found in their "locker" room, which was in reality a Future Farmer of America class room. The shower room is across the hall, and a crowd of boys and girls in the hallway prevented their going to it in their birthday clothes. Mack Young dressed up in a windbreaker, and Leon Sims covered himself partially, they being the only Tigers to get baths except in the sink where frigid water was running. Raymond Haley came up with a good game after Wells was hurt, finally being forced to leave when he suffered a leg bruise.

TAMI WINNER AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—For the second time in a year, Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight, has proven himself the complete master of Lee Savold, blonde Paterson, N. J., slugger. Mauriello punched out a roaring 10-round decision over Savold at Madison Square Garden last night, and just like in their previous fight, got off the floor to win the brawl—one of the best slugger bees in the garden this year.

HOW TO PAY FOR WAR

Raymond Clapper, columnist and commentator, will consider one of the primary post-war problems, "What's the Best Way to Pay for the War?" on his news broadcast, Monday, November 8, at 9 p. m. over Mutual.

On Armistice Day, November 11, Mr. Clapper will report his views on: "What Can We Learn From the Mistakes of the Last Armistice?"

SWING WING

"Swing Wing," a hot musical group from the Santa Ana, California, Army Air Base band, is the latest guest to be added to the two-hour Thanksgiving show, Thursday, November 25, from 3 to 5 p. m. over the full Columbia network.

Dedicated to America's fighting men and their families at home, the holiday broadcast already includes such stars as Screen Star Robert Young who will m. c. the festivities, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Lena Horne, Jose Iturbi, Alan Reed, better known as "Falstaff Openshaw," Ginny Simms, the Pied Pipers, Jack Douglas, Alvino Rey, and Jimmy Newell, and announcer Don Wilson.

The "Swing Wing" is composed of seven leading musicians who play along the lines of hot jazz and also go in for comedy antics while playing.

Bob Burns and his Bazooka, starred Thursdays on the "Arkansas Traveler" programs over NBC, will make an extra trip to the network when they are heard on the Charlie McCarthy program Sunday, at 7 p. m. McCarthy, according to Sidekick Edgar Bergen, will produce a musical invention to put the bazooka to shame. Oh, pity the ears of dialers!

Hunters With Shells Await Opening of Season November 19

AMMUNITION IN DISTRICT SHORT, GAME PLENTIFUL

Conservation Division Seeking Relief For Ohio Shortage

MAKING NO PROMISES

Some Hope Held For U. S. Release Of Shot Before Starting Day

Rabbit, pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse hunting seasons will open at 11 a. m. Friday, November 19, with hundreds of Circleville and Pickaway county sportsmen ready to take to the field, if they can find ammunition. Game is plentiful.

The bird season will continue through December 4. The rabbit season will not end until January 11.

The raccoon season opens November 15 as does the mink, muskrat, opossum and skunk season. In the inland trapping area mink and muskrat may be taken until January 15 and in the Lake Erie district the season extends through March 15.

There will be no open season on skunk in Conservation District No. 7, where they are reported to be scarce. The counties comprising this area are Adams, Athens, Brown, Gallia, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton.

There is no closed season on gray fox, but in the southern part of Ohio red fox are protected except from November 19 to February 1, inclusive. In this zone, where the season will be opened on November 19, the following counties are included: Hamilton, Brown, Highland, Adams, Scioto, Pike, Ross, Lawrence, Jackson, Vinton, Hocking, Athens, Meigs, Gallia, and all of Perry county except Thorn, Hopewell, Madison, Reading and Clayton townships.

Bag Limits

The bag limits are as follows: rabbit, four with eight in possession after the first day; pheasant, two cocks, four cocks in possession after first day; Hungarian Partridge, four with four in possession; grouse, two, with two in possession.

The duck hunting season, covered by federal regulations, is still in progress and will continue through December 3.

Some hunters report that they had ammunition left over from last year and others report they have been able to exchange ammunition with friends or purchase it at stores. The War Production Board announced some time ago that a supply of ammunition had been released but this has been slow in finding its way to dealers' shelves and most hunters still face the problem of securing ammunition.

The Conservation Division has been besieged with questions regarding the ammunition situation but has been unable to aid farmers and hunters as the release of shells is entirely a federal matter, being handled by the WPB. Conservation Commissioner Don Waters did join with other state conservation officials of the country, along with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Outdoor Writers Association of America, several months ago in requesting the federal authorities in Washington to release as much ammunition as possible, consistent with the war effort, to harvest the game crop.

Many people are of the opinion that enough shells will find their way into hunters' hands by the opening date, November 19, to insure a reasonable amount of hunting on the part of all who can find some time to take to the fields, and advance sales of hunting licenses indicate that many are already making their plans as usual.

MORRISON FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Bee-man Morrison of Tarlton will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Tarlton Presbyterian church, the Rev. Wayne Baxter officiating. Burial will be in the U. B. cemetery there by the Deffenbaugh funeral home.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

ating that Vinson had given "e-knuckled" instructions to B members not to accept the original Illinois coal agreement. Vinson has had various conversations with WLB members, and although he let them know his general views on wage stabilization, they were already just as thoroughly sold as he. Meanwhile the dispute between labor and public WLB members continues to boil.

WATCH MOSCOW "FOLLOW THROUGH"

What diplomats are especially watching about the Moscow agreements is the follow-through. While not as enthusiastic as the peacocks of praise in the press, they hope that upon the skeleton worked out at Moscow may be hung some permanent, healthy flesh.

Whether this can be done will depend on who does it. As usual in diplomacy it is a question of personnel. American diplomatic personnel has been one of our weakest points; British and Russian personnel among their strongest.

The Russians, for instance, have taken most seriously the special political council which is to function in London. On it will sit the man who someday may succeed Premier Stalin—Andrei Vishinski. He helped frame the constitution of Russia, prosecuted the Soviet purge trials, was a friend of Lenin, engineered the Kaunas agreement which brought about the political delivery of Lithuania into Russian hands in 1940.

Vishinski has a mind like a needle, is a match for the keenest legal-statesman in any country. But to match wits against him on the Mediterranean Council, Secretary Hull originally sent Ed Wilson, U. S. Ambassador to Panama. Wilson has been in the diplomatic service for 23 years, is an A-1 man, but not the type who, like Vishinski, might ever lead his country.

So the thing diplomats are watching is whom FDR picks from the threadbare assortment available to carry on and build up working peace machinery from the foundation laid in Moscow.

NON-NOTIFIED DADS SLATED AFTER JANUARY 1

Pickaway county pre-Pearl Harbor draft age dads who have not yet received notices of reopening of classification from the draft board may rest assured that they will not be called at least until after the first of the year.

Selective service board has sent notices to men who have order numbers of less than 1,200, and is not intending to send reclassification cards to any more until they are needed. Already a sufficient number of men has been processed and has had blood tests to take care of the December call, and enough have been processed to help fill a normal January call.

The December contingent to be sent about the middle of the month will be somewhat less than the November quota called from the county. The draft board has received its official call, but is not permitted to disclose the exact number of men in it.

Selective Service board said Saturday that it does not intend to notify pre-Pearl Harbor dads in large numbers that they are about to be called into service, but will keep sending notices from time to time in order to keep its pool of available men sufficiently large to take care of all calls.

TEMPERATURE AT 25

Circleville's temperature fell to 25 degrees Saturday morning, lowest reading of the year. A heavy frost was observed. The temperature was three degrees under Friday morning's 28.

Local Theatres Offer Moviegoers Varied Entertainment

"RANDOM Harvest", with Greer Garson and Ronald Colman leading the cast, is the Circle theatre's Sunday and Monday feature.

Miss Katherine Morgan Chosen Queen of High School's Homecoming

Mary Katherine Morgan, 15, a high school sophomore and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Morgan, 125 East Mill street, will reign next Friday night as Queen of Circleville high school's Homecoming celebration. The event will also honor dads of members of the high school grid squad, each being given a place on the Tiger bench and each wearing a number on the back of his coat corresponding to the number on his son's uniform.

The Homecoming celebration and Dads' Day event will be conducted as the high school team plays its final game of the year. A victory over the invading Washington C. H. Blue Lions would give the Red and Black second place in the South Central Ohio league, behind Wilmington's champions.

Miss Morgan was chosen homecoming queen in an election conducted for all pupils of the high school. Each class nominated two aspirants.

In her court will be Ann Snider, also a sophomore, and Mary Crites and Jean Burns, both members of the senior class.

The Queen and her court will be presented to the crowd between halves of the football game. C. F. Zaenglein, director of the band, is working out special numbers for his musicians in keeping with the Homecoming-Dads' Day event.

Ned Stout of the Stooze Club will serve as master of ceremonies at the between halves event. The Stooze Club is also planning a homecoming dance to follow the game, proceeds to be used to help buy a new public address system.

may do so starting Monday at the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing office. The office will be ready Monday to take care of applications.

R. R. Bressler of near Stouts-ville is recovering from injuries suffered when his right hand was caught in a corn shredder. Mr. Bressler is in St. Anthony's hospital, Columbus, for treatment.

Lieutenant Joseph Goeller of Camp Wheeler, Ga., and Private First Class Donald Goeller of Camp Barkeley, Texas, have arrived home for the funeral Saturday of their brother, Bernard Goeller. Private Robert Goeller of Fort Lewis, Washington, is also enroute home but will not arrive until Sunday.

F. K. Blair, Pickaway county extension agent, has returned home after attending a conference in Columbus this week of the Ohio County Agents' association. Fred R. Keeler, Ross county agent, was elected president of the group for 1944.

Mrs. James Humphrey, 407 East Ohio street, is a patient in Berger hospital for major surgery.

Mrs. Joe E. Goeller and baby son were removed Saturday to their home, 434 East Franklin street, from Berger hospital.

Persons who failed to obtain War Ration Book 4 when registration was conducted last week

HUMPHREY Bogart, star of "Casablanca", appears at the Grand theatre Sunday and Monday in another North African hit, "Sahara". Bogart is screened as Sergeant Gunn, chief of an American tank crew. Others in the cast are Bruce Bennett, Rex Ingram and J. Carroll Naish.

Strenuous Campaign Mapped To Promote "This Is Army" Benefit

Circleville civic committees handling promotion of the "This Is the Army" show to be staged next Tuesday for the benefit of the Army Emergency Relief fund intend to put on a strenuous campaign Saturday, Sunday and Monday in an effort to provide a sell-out of the Grand theatre. If all seats in the theatre can be sold at the prevailing prices of $3.30 and $2.20 about $1,800 will be put into the coffers of the important emergency fund.

Additional purchases of blocks of tickets were announced Saturday, among them being Murphy's store, 23; Gallaher's, 10; Kroger's, 7; W. T. Grant, 4; J. C. Penney, 10; Miller-Jones, 2; Western Auto Supply, 2, and Firestone Co., 3.

Several other block purchases were reported earlier in the week. Many others were expected to be made Saturday, with industries and business houses cooperating with the Army Emergency Relief fund and with the theatre in promotion of the great Irving Berlin show.

The "This Is the Army" premiere will be the only showing at the theatre Tuesday night. All money collected for the premiere will be turned over to the Army Emergency Relief fund.

The Warner Brothers production of the picture includes use of 350 of the original cast of the stage play written by Berlin.

Hollywood is represented by George Murphy, Joan Leslie, Lieutenant Ronald Reagan, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Charles Butterworth and Una Merkel, among others. Radio's great star, Kate Smith sings the beloved hymn, "God Bless America," which she introduced. Frances Langford puts over the new Berlin number "What Does He Look Like" while Gertrude Niesen sings some of the composer's World War I tunes.

A screen story was built around the show, linking together the generations of the two World Wars and giving the production a plot interest which the stage version lacked.

Based on a screen play by Casey Robinson and Captain Claude Binyon, Irving Berlin's "This Is the Army" was directed by Michael Curtiz who directed "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Casablanca," "Mission to Moscow" and other outstanding motion pictures.

Hunters With Shells Await Opening of Season November 19

AMMUNITION IN DISTRICT SHORT, GAME PLENTIFUL

Conservation Division Seeking Relief For Ohio Shortage

MAKING NO PROMISES

Some Hope Held For U. S. Release Of Shot Before Starting Day

Rabbit, pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse hunting seasons will open at 11 a. m. Friday, November 19, with hundreds of Circleville and Pickaway county sportsmen ready to take to the field, if they can find ammunition. Game is plentiful.

The bird season will continue through December 4. The rabbit season will not end until January 11.

The raccoon season opens November 15 as does the mink, muskrat, opossum and skunk season. In the inland trapping area mink and muskrat may be taken until January 15 and in the Lake Erie district the season extends through March 15.

There will be no open season on skunk in Conservation District No. 7, where they are reported to be scarce. The counties comprising this area are Adams, Athens, Brown, Gallia, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton.

There is no closed season on gray fox, but in the southern part of Ohio red fox are protected except from November 19 to February 1, inclusive. In this zone, where the season will be opened on November 19, the following counties are included: Hamilton, Brown, Highland, Adams, Scioto, Pike, Ross, Lawrence, Jackson, Vinton, Hocking, Athens, Meigs, Gallia, and all of Perry county except Thorn, Hopewell, Madison, Reading and Clayton townships.

Bag Limits

The bag limits are as follows: rabbit, four with eight in possession after the first day; pheasant, two cocks, four cocks in possession after first day; Hungarian Partridge, four with four in possession; grouse, two, with two in possession.

The duck hunting season, covered by federal regulations, is still in progress and will continue through December 2.

Some hunters report that they had ammunition left over from last year and others report they have been able to exchange ammunition with friends or purchase it at stores. The War Production Board announced some time ago that a supply of ammunition had been released but this has been slow in finding its way to dealers' shelves and most hunters still face the problem of securing ammunition.

The Conservation Division has been beset with questions regarding the ammunition situation but has been unable to aid farmers and hunters as the release of shells is entirely a federal matter, being handled by the WPE. Conservation Commissioner Don Waters did join with other state conservation officials of the country, along with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Outdoor Writers Association of America, several months ago in requesting the federal authorities in Washington to release as much ammunition as possible, consistent with the war effort, to harvest the game crop.

Many people are of the opinion that enough shells will find their way into hunters' hands by the opening date, November 19, to insure a reasonable amount of hunting on the part of all who can find some time to take to the fields, and advance sales of hunting licenses indicate that many are already making their plans as usual.

MORRISON FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Beeman Morrison of Tarlton will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Tarlton Presbyterian church, the Rev. Wayne Baxter officiating. Burial will be in the U. B. cemetery there by the Deffenbaugh funeral home.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

(Continued from Page Four) column was in error recently in stating that Vinson had given "e-knuckled" instructions to B members not to accept the signal Illinois coal agreement. Vinson has had various conversations with WLB members, and although he let them know his general views on wage stabilization, they were already just as thoroughly sold as he.

Meanwhile the dispute between labor and public WLB members continues to boil.

WATCH MOSCOW "FOLLOW THROUGH"

What diplomats are especially watching about the Moscow agreements is the follow-through. While not as enthusiastic as the pacans of praise in the press, they hope that upon the skeleton worked out at Moscow may be hung some permanent, healthy flesh.

Whether this can be done will depend on who does it. As usual in diplomacy it is a question of personnel. American diplomatic personnel has been one of our weakest points; British and Russian personnel among their strongest points.

The Russians, for instance, have taken most seriously the special political council which is to function in London. On it will sit the man who someday may succeed Premier Stalin—Andrei Vishinski. He helped frame the constitution of Russia, prosecuted the Soviet purge trials, was a friend of Lenin, engineered the Kaunas agreement which brought about the political delivery of Lithuania into Russian hands in 1940.

Vishinski has a mind like a needle, is a match for the keenest legal-statesman in any country. But to match wits against him on the Mediterranean Council, Secretary Hull originally sent Ed Wilson, U. S. Ambassador to Panama. Wilson has been in the diplomatic service for 23 years, is an A-1 man, but not the type who, like Vishinski, might ever lead his country.

So the thing diplomats are watching is whom FDR picks from the threadbare assortment available to carry on and build up working peace machinery from the foundation laid in Moscow.

NON-NOTIFIED DADS SLATED AFTER JANUARY 1

Pickaway county pre-Pearl Harbor draft age dads who have not yet received notices of reopening of classification from the draft board may rest assured that they will not be called at least until after the first of the year.

Selective service board has sent notices to men who have order numbers of less than 1,200, and is not intending to send reclassification cards to any more until they are needed. Already a sufficient number of men has been processed and has had blood tests to take care of the December call, and enough have been processed to help fill a normal January call.

The December contingent to be sent about the middle of the month will be somewhat less than the November quota called from the county. The draft board has received its official call, but is not permitted to disclose the exact number of men in it.

Selective Service board said Saturday that it does not intend to notify pre-Pearl Harbor dads in large numbers that they are about to be called into service, but will keep sending notices from time to time in order to keep its pool of available men sufficiently large to take care of all calls.

TEMPERATURE AT 25

Circleville's temperature fell to 25 degrees Saturday morning, low-est reading of the year. A heavy frost was observed. The temperature was three degrees under Friday morning's 28.

Miss Katherine Morgan Chosen Queen of High School's Homecoming

Mary Katherine Morgan, 15, a high school sophomore and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Morgan, 125 East Mill street, will reign next Friday night as Queen of Circleville high school's Homecoming celebration. The event will also honor dads of members of the high school grid squad, each being given a place on the Tiger bench and each wearing a number on the back of his coat corresponding to the number on his son's uniform.

The Homecoming celebration and Dads' Day event will be conducted as the high school team plays its final game of the year. A victory over the invading Washington C. H. Blue Lions would give the Red and Black second place in the South Central Ohio league, behind Wilmington's champions.

Miss Morgan was chosen homecoming queen in an election conducted for all pupils of the high school. Each class nominated two aspirants.

In her court will be Ann Snider, also a sophomore, and Mary Crites and Jean Burns, both members of the senior class.

The Queen and her court will be presented to the crowd between halves of the football game.

C. F. Zaenglein, director of the band, is working out special numbers for his musicians in keeping with the Homecoming-Dads' Day event.

Ned Stout of the Stooze Club will serve as master of ceremonies at the between halves event.

The Stooze Club is also planning a homecoming dance to follow the game, proceeds to be used to help buy a new public address system.

may do so starting Monday at the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing office. The office will be ready Monday to take care of applications.

R. R. Bressler of near Stouts-ville is recovering from injuries suffered when his right hand was caught in a corn shredder. Mr. Bressler is in St. Anthony's hospital, Columbus, for treatment.

Lieutenant Joseph Goeller of Camp Wheeler, Ga., and Private First Class Donald Goeller of Camp Berkeley, Texas, have arrived home for the funeral Saturday of their brother, Bernard Goeller. Private Robert Goeller of Fort Lewis, Washington, is also enroute home but will not arrive until Sunday.

F. K. Blair, Pickaway county extension agent, has returned home after attending a conference in Columbus this week of the Ohio County Agents' association. Fred R. Keeler, Ross county agent, was elected president of the group for 1944.

Mrs. James Humphrey, 407 East Ohio street, is a patient in Berger hospital for major surgery.

Mrs. Joe E. Goeller and baby son were removed Saturday to their home, 434 East Franklin street, from Berger hospital.
